

SOCIETY

The largest social function of the week other than the Inaugural ball was the card party given by Mrs. Samuel Parker at the Campbell residence, Emma street, on Monday afternoon. The games were played on the spacious lanais overlooking the rear gardens and the only decorations, simple but attractive, were baskets of house plants a mantel being banked with pale astors. Eighteen tables were used and these covered the entire lanai the mauka end of which was occupied by a quintette club which played and sang during the playing. A pleasant feature was the singing of Mr. John Ellis. Mrs. Parker was assisted in receiving by Princess Kawananakoa, and the tallies were looked after by Miss Ada Rhodes, Miss Alice Campbell, Miss McCrosson, Miss Juanita Beckley, Miss Rosie Cunha and Miss Irene Dickson. The refreshments were dainty, augmented by champagne punch, the sherbets being served in cups of hollowed oranges. The cut for the consolation prize was made by Mrs. Walbridge and Mrs. Samuel Wilder, the prize being won by the latter. Mrs. Archibald Young won the first prize, a royal Worcester vase. Mrs. Charles B. Cooper won the second prize, a real lace handkerchief. Mrs. E. D. Tenney was fortunate in securing the booby prize, a card case, and the consolation prize, won by Mrs. Wilder, was a silver filigree ornamented cologne bottle.

Mrs. Parker wore a handsome lavender cape du chine gown embroidered with lavender chrysanthemums. Among those present were Mrs. G. C. Beckley, Miss Beckley, Mrs. Percy Benson, Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. Bowler, Mrs. E. M. Boyd, Miss Irene Dickson, Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. J. O. Carter, Mrs. Cunha, Miss Cunha, Miss Carter, Miss Clara English, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Mrs. Highton, Miss Hoare, Mrs. George Herbert, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Elizabeth Freeth, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. H. W. Lake, Mrs. W. Lewis, Mrs. Robert Lewers, Mrs. Fred Macfarlane, Mrs. Clarence Macfarlane, Mrs. Morgan, Miss McIntyre, Miss McCrosson, Mrs. Emmett May, Mrs. Hobdy, Mrs. Palmer Woods, Mrs. M. Phillips, Mrs. King, Mrs. J. S. McGrew, Mrs. M. Roth, Mrs. Annis Montague Turner, Mrs. William Pfeuger, Mrs. Tedley, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. A. P. Taylor, Mrs. Helen G. Noonan, Mrs. Samuel G. Wilder, Mrs. Walter Hoffmann, Mrs. W. M. Graham, Mrs. Albert Haas, Mrs. T. A. Hays, Mrs. Archibald Young, Mrs. Clara Schmidt, Mrs. Francis Smith, Miss Ada Rhodes, Mrs. Charles Lucas, Mrs. Walbridge, Mrs. J. A. Gilman, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Miss Campbell.

A violet luncheon was given on Tuesday by Mrs. Grace Waterhouse in honor of Miss Jessie Robertson of Santa Rosa, California, who returned to the coast during the week. Among the decorations were diminutive pots of growing violets in full bloom at each guest's plate. Among other guests were Miss Graydon, Miss Edith Alexander of Oakland, Misses Mary and Agnes Alexander, Miss Belle Dickey, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Corbett and Mrs. Albert Waterhouse.

Princess Kawananakoa has invitations out for a poi supper to be given at her residence, Pensacola street, next Friday evening, in honor of Mrs. Cook of California.

Charles Dole was reported as much better yesterday.

If present plans are consummated one of the most unique forms of entertainment for the officers of Admiral Evans' squadron will be a costume ball to take place on the Young Hotel roof garden shortly after the warships arrive in port. The ideas for the ball are to have all who participated in the Heanani masque ball to appear again.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes, Jr., may shortly leave Honolulu for Europe.

Miss Alice Campbell will give a pedro party next Monday evening at which twenty tables will be used.

French Consul and Mrs. Albert Raas expect to leave for the coast shortly to spend the Christmas holidays. They will visit their little daughter Camille.

Miss Nalani Jones is expected home from Mare Island on December 16.

Mrs. Archibald Young has cards out for a pedro party for next Wednesday afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the rag-doll sale for the Free Kindergarten and Missionary Gleaners will take place on the lanais of the Hawaiian Hotel. The patronesses are Mrs. S.

B. Dole, Mrs. A. B. Wood, Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. James B. Castle, Mrs. Alexander Isenberg, Miss Hoare, Mrs. F. R. Day, Mrs. Herman Focke, and Princess Kawananakoa. Mrs. Swanzy will have charge of the tea table; Mrs. F. R. Day the punch bowl; Mrs. George Macfarlane, the lemonade. The rag-doll table will be looked after by Mrs. Protenhauer, Mrs. Focke, Miss Nellie White, Miss P. Pfeuger, Marjorie and Dorothy Freeth and Muriel Campbell. Mrs. A. B. Wood will be in charge of the Punch and Judy booth; Mrs. W. M. Graham, Mrs. Dr. Moore and Miss Frances Lawrence, the donkey party; Miss Hoare, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, the marionette dolls, with Miss Lorna Iaukea at the piano. The Missionary Gleaners' Doll table will be in charge of Mrs. Wm. Moore, Miss Margaret Hopper, Miss Julie Damon, Miss Hall and Miss Marion Dillingham. The Gleaners' candy table will be looked after by Miss Madge McCandless, Miss May Schweitzer, Miss Alice Kluegel, Miss Belle Ashley and Miss Belle Dickey. Mrs. Alexander Isenberg has given a handsome rag doll which will be raffled by Miss Alice Campbell and Miss Irene Dickson. The doll presented by Edythe Chapman (Mrs. James Neill) will be one of the attractions of the display.

The sale will begin at 1:30 p. m., but all dolls will be on exhibition for an hour before the sale begins. Mrs. Neill's doll will occupy a place of honor in a special booth presided over by Mrs. E. D. Tenney, assisted by Mrs. Camp and Mrs. Benson. Captain Berger with the Government band will play in the afternoon, and by permission of the Governor will play at the Hawaiian Hotel during the evening instead of at Emma Square.

Mr. and Mrs. Brett of Yokohama, who were through passengers in the Doric en route to San Francisco, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty while in port.

A well attended thimble social was given at the residence of Mrs. Moore on Thursday for members of Central Union church.

The wedding of Miss Lucy Roth and Dr. C. B. High will take place at 8:30 Thursday evening at Central Union church. Miss Ethel Angus will be the bridesmaid and Mr. E. C. Peters will attend the groom. Rev. W. M. Kincaid will perform the ceremony. The ushers are to be Messrs. Fred B. Angus, Robert Shingle, Walter Dillingham, Walter Macfarlane, Arthur Mackintosh, Clarence Waterman and Nelson Lansing.

The Inaugural Ball on Tuesday evening was the largest social event of the season. The Capitol building was thronged from 8 in the evening until 2 in the morning, nearly two thousand guests being present by invitation. The old palace was brilliantly illuminated and looked like "the old times" under the monarchy, as several guests commented. Governor and Mrs. Carter received in the old Foreign Office on the second floor. An oval space made with palms extending from the door of the Secretary's office to that of the Governor marked the space in which the guests were received. The Governor and Mrs. Carter stood before two of the throne-room chairs decorated with male, a beautiful basket of American Beauty roses being suspended between the two. The staircase was divided by a railing and the guests arrived at the second floor by using the Ewa side. They were ushered into the Secretary's office by Lieut. Sherwood of the National Guard and were ushered thence by Lieut. Cummins and Major Pratt to the old Foreign Office where Adjutant-General Soper presented them to the Governor and Mrs. Carter. In the Governor's private office was a receiving line of ladies who were nearly all connected with Governor Carter's official family, the introductions here being made by Mr. Walter F. Dillingham and Mr. Noah Aluli. In the receiving line were Mrs. Alatau Atkinson, Mrs. Walter F. Frear, Mrs. Lorrin Andrews, Mrs. Charles B. Cooper, Mrs. T. C. Holloway, Mrs. E. S. Boyd, Mrs. George Smithies, Mrs. J. H. Fisher, Mrs. W. E. Wall, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mrs. J. W. Pratt and Mrs. R. D. Walbridge.

Upon leaving the reception rooms the guests spread out to the verandas and occupied the upper hallway, where a Hawaiian quintette club played later for those who desired to dance. The majority returned to the main floor where they danced in the old throne room to the music of the Hawaiian Government band and a Hawaiian quintette club. Lemonade was served on the mauka verandas and light rea princesse gown of black sequin over black taffeta, cut decollete.

Mrs. R. D. Walbridge wore an elegant black and white surrah satin, white algrette adorning the coiffure.

Mrs. J. W. Pratt was attired in a black silk gown trimmed with white lace.

A pretty yellow luncheon was given on Thursday in honor of Miss Pfeuger of London, by Princess Kawananakoa. The guests numbered twelve. The luncheon was spread on the cool and spacious lanai and the table decorations were in yellow and green, brilliant coreopsis blossoms being conspicuous at each table. The guests besides those mentioned were Miss Rosie Cunha, Miss Hartnagle, Miss Kathleen Cartwright, Miss Gilette, Miss Irene Dickson, Miss Ada Rhodes, Miss Jennie Giffard, Miss Juanita Beckley, Miss Lucy Roth.

Dr. Mary Roberts Smith of Stanford University will address the Kilohana Art League on "Household Administration" next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the League rooms.

On Wednesday evening Miss Ella Higgins and Dr. William Danel were married at the residence of Mrs. Winne, Beretania street. Palms and ferns were the principal decorations and with the flowers showed a tendency to green and white. The bride looked charming in a pineapple silk over liberty satin with pearl and real lace trimmings. Miss Persis Winne, the maid of honor, wore a beautiful gown of just cloth trimmed with real lace. As Mrs. Barton played the wedding march the bridal couple entered from opposite portals and met under a beautiful arch near the center of the rooms where the bride and groom were united in marriage by the Rev. G. L. Pearson.

freshments and punch were served in the basement.

Major George Potter, the floor manager, was assisted by Messrs. George E. Smithies, Walter Dillingham and Henry Hapai. Captain Marston Campbell had charge of the decorations and Andrew Brown the supper. The committee on arrangements was composed of Col. J. W. Jones, Hon. C. L. Crabbe, Major Potter, George Smithies, Andrew Brown, J. A. Gilman, Henry C. Hapai, Walter F. Dillingham, Major Pratt, Captain Campbell and Noah Aluli.

Governor and Mrs. Carter, after the reception was concluded, received a large number of their intimate friends in the private offices, where champagne was drunk to the health of the new Governor and the first lady of the islands.

Mrs. George R. Carter looked handsome in an exquisite silk gown with steel passementerie trimming, the yoke being a berth of white lace. Her ornaments were diamonds and she carried a pretty bouquet of violets.

Mrs. Alatau Atkinson wore a handsome black lace gown over silk with a berth of white old rose point lace.

Mrs. Walter Frear wore a white Duchesse satin cut decollete, the corage finished with chiffon.

Mrs. Lorrin Andrews wore a black point d'esprit over black silk cut decollete.

Mrs. Charles B. Cooper wore an elegant gown of black lace and chiffon over black taffeta silk, the low cut bodice being finished with a garland of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. T. C. Holloway wore a brocaded black silk, the low cut bodice finished with a berth of white real lace.

Mrs. E. S. Boyd wore a gown of black net over black silk trimmed with black passementerie, with red roses in the bodice.

Mrs. George Smithies wore a black mousseline de soie, finished with black lace over taffeta, cut decollete. In the coiffure she wore a white algrette.

Mrs. J. H. Fisher wore a handsome white satin trimmed with white chiffon, cut decollete.

Mrs. W. E. Wall wore a white pina over white silk, cut decollete.

Mrs. Arthur M. Brown was attired in
